Title: Wincraft

Date: 04/0706

Info: A Winona company will help Winona state university fans celebrate the Men's basketball team national championship. Wincraft is busy making pennants and bumper stickers for the team. Wincraft has contracted to produce items for the super bowl and other national sporting events. The company says it's hard to remember another time when they made more memorabilia for a local team. Dave Schipper, Vice President of marketing says, "Its kinda fun. There's no doubt that the WSU people had a glow about them the Monday after. I guess the closest we could come to it is we might of done some La Crosse Catbirds champion stuff, I think the year they won." The University bookstore is selling pennants magnets and stickers. Eventually Winona retailers shot have all items in stock and for sale.

Title: High Gas Prices

Date: 4/14/06

Info: The highest price for gasoline ever recorded in lacrosse came in the aftermath of hurricane Katrina last September. Now two months before the summer driving season... gas prices are already on the rise once again. The national average is 2-dollars sixty-eight cents per gallon. The price has jumped nearly twenty cents in the past two weeks. Analysts say it's likely to continue to rise. Prices could go as high as three dollars again. But drivers say they can't afford to hit the road with the high prices. According to the fuel gauge report from triple a.... the highest price ever for gasoline in lacrosse was two 99 a gallon on September 3rd 2005. One year ago the price was $2.27 a gallon.

Title High Efficiency Cars

Date: 05/19/06

Info: With gas running idle at near-record numbers there's a new type of sticker-shock hitting car lots around La Crosse, and it's reflected in the sales of smaller more efficient cars. Steve Low says, " we can definitely see it in the traffic coming in that people are looking more into the car side of the business as opposed to the SUV's and full-size trucks. It seems as if we're seeing more and more people waiting to trade the full-size SUV's, full-size pick-up trucks for cars." Low says that's the new standard in La Crosse. It's the same thing Scott Siver is seeing in Sparta. "We have a different type of buyer than what we were seeing before. We're finding a very common question is, "what kind of gas mileage does this get?", and I think people were always conscious of it but not as much as they are now." Sales of Ford's cars have spiked eight-percent over the past month... while truck-sales slid 15-percent. That's not necessarily surprising, but also not the sign truck sales will soon be stuck in the mud. If you need to have your camper or you need a pick-up for work, you're a contractor, you do whatever-- you've driven a pick-up, you're going to continue to use a pick-up. Steve Low there's people that have to have SUV's, and have to have full-size pick-up trucks, but they're looking for more economical trucks, so they're shopping for the manufacturer that has best in-class fuel economy. Both say hybrid cars and trucks along with vehicles that use ethanol have all turned into hot sellers. Possibly a reflection in the faith drivers have that those prices will ever go down.

Title: First Logic Sold

Date: 04/22/06

Info: Firstlogic of La Crosse has a new owner, and a new name. The sale of the business to a company called "Business Objects" is now final. Firstlogic has 300 employees in La Crosse, with another 100 around the country. Business Objects is based in California and in France with 42 hundred employees worldwide. Both companies develop software for businesses.

There will also be a new digital mammography machine, digital radiology, and new ultra sound machines. The Winona Clinic is also joining the campus. Date: 4/12/06

Info: One year ago next Wednesday, Mark Johnsrud became La Crosse's 40th mayor. So what does he think about the past year? Mayor Johnsrud says the last year has gone extremely fast and he's loved every minute of it. After leaving his job of running a small family business to become Mayor Johnsrud says his old job helped prepare him for the position. He says the hardest part is trying to manage his time. Johnsrud only gets about 10 minutes of quality time to spend on everything...And wishes he could have more time. He says his favorite moment, was being sworn in. He also adds that he's enjoyed watching the city grow during the past 12 months. Johnsrud says, "The city of La Crosse's skyline has changed so much in the last year, and the things that we've accomplished, I mean it's been incredible the amount of development we've seen in the city of La Crosse. There's been over 50 million dollars worth of new development in the city of La Crosse alone in the last year." In the future...The mayor told me he'd like to continue seeing the city grow with even more development. He's also getting ready for a trip he never thought he'd take. Next week he's heading to Bantry, Ireland...one of the city's sister cities. Mayor Johnsrud plans to work on creating a relationship between the two cities while there.

Title: New County Board Members

Date: 04/19/06

But only three are new...the rest are incumbents who won re-election earlier this month. Of the 35 seats on the board, only 12 were contested. Robert Keil, Jason Gillett and former Mayor John Medinger are the new members. They will serve two year terms.

Title: Boycott

Date: 4/28/06

Info: Latino leaders are calling it "el gran paro" -- or "the big stop." Instead of going to work or attending school on Monday -- immigrants, Undocumented or not, are being urged to stay home. Juan Jose Gutierrez Boycott organizer says, "They will not be getting their lawns landscaped or their grass cut. They will not be having their children taken care of by undocumented nannies. Construction will halt across America." The goal is not to create hardship -- organizers say -- but to send a message that immigrants play a vital role in the U.S. Economy. Some business owners say they'll have no choice but to close for the day. Leo Duran Restaurant owner, "If they were to walk out, then definitely it would impact our business. I mean, I'd be very limited as to my staff." But not all are in support of the walk-out. Some fear a backlash -- and worry. Jobs will be lost. In Washington, where lawmakers are battling over immigration reform, the President weighed in, "You know, I'm not a supporter of boycotts. I am a supporter of comprehensive immigration." The president also criticized the new Spanish-language version of the National Anthem being played on the radio -- saying he believes those who want to be U.S. Citizens should learn to sing the song in English.

Title: Collaboration

Date: 5/13/06

Info: During the past three years La Crosse county has worked to organize what it calls a collaboration conference. The overall idea is to design a plan for La Crosse and the surrounding communities to work together as one region, considering such issues as urban sprawl annexation and poverty. The keynote speaker for today's conference is David Rusk. Rusk is a former Albuquerque Mayor and New Mexico state lawmaker who now is a leading expert on what's known as regionalism. He may be best known for his book, "Cities without suburbs." In it he argues that central cities can't be isolated from suburbs if they want to attack urban problems. Rusk toured the city yesterday to prepare for his keynote address this morning at the La Crosse county collaboration conference. David Rusk says, "I can tell you that if La Crosse was still with its boundaries of 1950-ten square miles-it would be a considerably more difficult condition than it is today. So that's one of the questions-the ability of cities within the context of state law to be the place where urban development occurs."

Rusk will speak this morning.

Title: New Government in Iraq

Date: 05/18/06

Info: President Bush is hailing the new government as a new beginning.

"The formation of the unity government in Iraq begins a new chapter in our relationship with Iraq." Mindful that two-thirds of Americans disapprove of his handling of Iraq, he reiterated what's at stake. A free Iraq will be an important ally in the war on terror, will serve as a devastating defeat for the terrorists and Al Qaeda security is at the top of the new Iraqi prime minister's agenda. Nouri al-maliki is promising to use maximum force to end the killing and kidnapping in his country. But first, he needs to find consensus candidates to head up the defense and interior ministries. They will oversee Iraqi Security forces and police, whose success is essential to the withdrawal of American troops. Deadly bombings throughout Baghdad yesterday, were a stark reminder of what the new government is up against. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice said on "Fox News Sunday." "We really need to give this government a chance, and we need to recognize that with the very difficult things that they're trying to do, they are making extraordinary progress politically." But Americans are losing patience. 76-percent say the number of casualties in Iraq is unacceptable. 59-percent say the war was a mistake. John Murtha, decorated Vietnam War Veteran says, "It's time to redeploy and let Iraqis settle this themselves." The US military is sending two battalions of soldiers from Kuwait to Iraq to provide protection for the new government. It's unclear how long they'll be needed.

Title: Ethics Investigation

Date: 05/29/06

Info: Six Wisconsin state lawmakers convicted of crimes will not lose their taxpayer funded retirement benefits. Two of those former legislators could collect more than 2-million dollars in pension payments. And that is prompting criticism from the government watchdog organization. common cause. The president of that organization says lawmakers are receiving rewards for decisions that harmed taxpayers.

Title: Debate About Minimum Wage

Date: 06/30/06

Info: Wisconsin Congressman Dave Obey (OH'-bee) says Congress has no business accepting a cost-of-living pay increase until it raises the minimum wage. The Wausau Democrat is vowing to attach a minimum wage hike to various bills. Obey's attempt to attach the raise to a major spending bill two weeks ago caused Republicans to sidetrack the legislation. Congressional members are scheduled to get a 33-hundred dollar cost-of-living increase, raising their pay to 168 and a-half thousand dollars. Obey has proposed raising the minimum wage from five dollars 15 cents to seven and a-quarter. The federal minimum wage hasn't been raised in nine years. But, Wisconsin and a number of other states have raised the wage on their own. Wisconsin's minimum wage is six-50 an hour. Opponents of a wage hike say the market lifts wages on its own. Democrats in the Senate say they will block a congressional pay raise unless the minimum wage is raised.

Date: 05/21/06

Info: The environment is also on the minds of students at two Lacrosse schools, Longfellow Middle and Spence Elementary. The two classes won a challenge from Gundersen Lutheran. Their prize was not a trophy, but some trees. The hospital's environmental director challenged classes around the area to come up with the best way to be more eco-friendly. Hospital staff reviewed all the proposals and picked the winning classes based on their bright ideas. Ryan Ray of Gundersen Lutheran says the winners were creative, "They're going to have a recycling bonanza during resource and think of more ways they can recycle. They're going to mentor the sixth graders next year coming in, so they really sat down and as a group, like I asked them to, and came up with ideas." The hospital paid for the trees, with funds from its paper recycling program.

Title: Learning Out doors

Date: 05/19/06

Info: It's another example of how important lessons are often learned outside the classroom. La Farge elementary school hopes to instill an appreciation for the environment in its students. Students from pre-kindergarten, through fifth grade spent the day in this *outdoor* classroom yesterday. Their teachers want them to learn how to become good, responsible citizens. This is also a chance for the kids to work together with people of all different ages. And teachers says once they found out what a great experience it was...They had to go back every year.

"Is it even preparing you for the real world? Not really...No...What is it doing? (Student) Just having fun and having a good time." Dropping adults, including their principal, into the dunk tank was especially popular. "I like it when they get wet And....I like it when they say that it's gross water." The kids are all smiles today and even if they're sad about leaving Chaseburg, their principal Clarice Nestingen says the smiles will return quickly. "Children are very surprising. They roll with the punches. They do much better with change than us adults do. And so I'm sure they'll be just fine. It's just some of us older people that will have adjustments to make." And leaving Chaseburg will be especially hard for Nestingen. "I personally went to grade school here so this has been my school since i was five years old. And I got into education, ended up coming back to this district and now i've been principal here for eight years." Now she only has one and a half days left. It has been a long time. "this has been like a home for many of us." But now it is time to go but not too far. Next year Nestingen will be the principal of Westby middle school. ## FCC 5: Public Health

Title: Need for Car Seats

Date: 05/31/06

Info: Under the old law you were required to use a booster seat only if your child was under the age of four. But starting tomorrow Wisconsin state law will require them for children between the ages of four and eight... Who weigh 40 to 80 pounds Or are shorter than four foot nine. Why? And what will happen if you don't obey. This rides up too far on the belly so not over the hips. That's not only uncomfortable for kids. It's also dangerous. The risk of internal injury is increased) and the reason why Wisconsin now has a new law that says big kids need booster seats too. "This is so important because we do a good job keeping infants in car seats and we do an okay job with toddlers, but there is something that happens when kids are 4 years old. Parents think magically they're big enough to sit in a vehicle seat belt system without a booster."

And according to the state... They're not. So starting on Thursday... Police will be on the lookout. If you're a parent with a child between the ages of four and eight and is shorter than four-nine, and between 40 and 80 pounds, they better in a booster seat or you might get pulled over. Booster seat laws are primary, unlike seatbelt laws which are secondary. So we can with probable cause pull you over if a child is not properly strapped in. Meaning you don't need to run a red before getting a ticket for a booster seat violation too. That violation by the way will cost you. Fines can range anywhere from 30-80 dollars. There is a grace period though-- a little time for parents to get used to the law... And get the right equipment. For the first six months... We will just issue warnings for first offenses. So between June first and December 31st...if you're stopped we won't issue you a citation. But if you have a second offense during that time we will. Starting January first... That grace time is gone. But police want parents to remember... This isn't supposed to be a money maker... It's supposed to keep kids safe.

Title: Senior Care

Date: 06/26/06

Info: The governor asked the federal government to extend SeniorCare. More than 110-thousand senior citizens are enrolled in the state's prescription drug discount program. But it faces an uncertain future in the face of Medicare Part -D, the federal prescription drug program. Last year the federal government threatened to eliminate funding for SeniorCare, arguing the Medicare benefit makes the program unnecessary. Governor Doyle brokered a compromise with the U-S Department of Health and Human Services to preserve SeniorCare until next June. Doyle sent a letter to H-H-S Secretary Michael Leavitt today asking him to extend SeniorCare beyond next year. H-H-S media people haven't returned a message.

Title: AIDS Worker

Date: 04/14/06

Info: My name is Jennifer Webber. I'm a HIV case worker here at the aids resource center of Wisconsin. I work directly with those infected with HIV or aids. Before starting the job 3-years ago Jennifer Webber didn't know anyone with AIDS or the virus that causes it. But now she has a clear picture of what life is like for people fighting the disease. People living with HIV feel like they are in a group of their own. Some view HIV as a "big city" disease. Not the case, Jennifer works with HIV-aids patients in 5 local counties... Most live in La Crosse County. Right now she visits with 53 people. 16 are women and 37 are men.

They range in age from just one-year-old through their 50s. HIV doesn't discriminate; it effects every age, race and gender. But society sometimes discriminates against them. Jennifer is there to make sure local HIV-aids patients get the care they need and deserve. I work very closely with the client to make sure they are adhering to their medical treatments. I simply have an open door policy if they're having a bad day, and need some place to go to talk; this is a safe place for them to come. For some clients, Jennifer is their only supporter. She forms close relationships and considers every one a friend, "I have lost a couple of clients to aids related illnesses and it is really difficult. But Jennifer says this is her calling... And hopes her passion catches on.

Title: Bypass Surgery

Date: 06/10/06

Info: More and more Americans are turning to gastric surgery for weight loss.

A review of national hospital records from 1998 to 2002 shows that gastric bypass surgery is almost six times more common than it was in the late 1990's. And it's estimated that tens of thousands of people will have this type of procedure in this year. The jump in procedures is due to several things including the rising rate of obesity, advances in surgical techniques, and improved safety. The surgery is most often performed to treat extreme obesity.... when a person is at least 100 pounds overweight. Experts' stress that surgery for weight loss should *not* be taken lightly... And used only as a last resort when a person's health is at risk.

Title: Athlete plays past pain

Date: 04/03/06

Info: Winning a national title is every athlete's dream.

For the Winona state men's basketball team... That dream is now reality.

The warriors are the n-c double-a Divison 2 champs. The victory was a true team effort. But one player in particular stepped up his game. He is the big man on campus. Zach Malvik: "M phone rings every 10-15 minutes...a basketball is his best friend. "Gowing up I've always been in love with the game." His talent is obvious. His love for the game is unmatched. He wears Winona purple with pride. "I can honestly say if Zach Malvik doesn't play in that championship game we don't win. Don't worry the 6-foot-2 junior guard played in that championship game...pouring in 10-points and grabbing 3 boards. We can't show you highlights because of network rules... But Malvik made it look so easy. "With what I had I gave everything I could. What he had was a broken leg. It was probably one of the worst feelings I ever felt. He's not talking about the pain... Although that wasn't pleasant either, Zach completely fractured his right fibula the final day of practice before the first regional tournament game. The timing couldn't have been worse.

The day my heart just sunk, "Doctors said I would be out 3-5 weeks. Zach had a different timeline in mind. He missed two big games... And wasn't about to miss another. When I went to check in the game the whole place went nuts and that helped me get through it. Zach was back. He went on to play in all three games that led up to Winona's first-ever national title. It was painful, but I'd go through it all again to go through all that happened. It's like a Hollywood story, it's amazing. It's absolutely amazed that he could play basketball. The Holmen high school standout is now nursing his broken leg. But most of his attention is focused on a game... He almost didn't play. He played a terrific tournament and he's the main reason we won.

Title: Wildlife Preserve

Date: 05/29/06

Info: It is prom season and students from La Crosse's four high schools once again have a safe place to go after prom is over. This is the tenth year for the post prom party at the la crosse center this Saturday. It features food and entertainment. Organizers say it gives students a safe environment to continue the celebration. "We want them to have a safe, non-alcoholic, no drug type of activity. The city helps sponsor it. The booster clubs and the parent organizations of each of the schools sponsor it. And then they can get together with their friends from all the four schools. A lot of the kids know each other through sports and activities and so it's fun to see their friends from other schools after the prom." The post prom midnight carnival is this Saturday. It goes from midnight until four a-m Sunday morning. It's at the La Crosse center arena. Tickets are six dollars and are available at the high schools and also at the door.

Date: 06/04/06

Info: This year's Children's Miracle Network celebration, set a new record! After numerous fundraising efforts and a 10 hour telethon today, we raised seven-hundred-94-thousand... Two-hundred- 77 dollars! Just amazing. This marked the 21st anniversary of the C-M-N celebration. It's a joint effort between News-19 and Gundersen-Lutheran. Every penny raised goes straight to *local* children with special medical needs. CMN Director Debbie Kroner says, "we have some great families that are sharing their stories because they know how important it is.. the money they received.. and they want to make sure other people understand that and call in and donate too." This year's c-m-n celebration topped last year's by more than 78-thousand dollars. Once again, a huge thanks to everyone who donated.

Date: 04/03/06

Those figures come from the Wisconsin children and family services. Those statistics are why the coulee region child abuse prevention task force wants to remind people that child abuse is everyone's business. At city hall Mayor Mark Johnsrud proclaimed April as child abuse prevention month. Organizers tell people not to be afraid to get involved if they witness abuse. As part of today's ceremony... Children helped tie blue ribbons to a tree as a reminder of this year's theme... Great kids start with you.

Title: ADHD

And can be worn for up to nine hours a day. It contains the same active ingredient found in pills such as Ritalin. The FDA says it will help parents give the drug to children who have trouble taking pills. But not all doctors see this as a good thing. Some experts have expressed concerned because the drug can enter the blood stream more directly than with a pill. They have also questioned whether the patch could be shared or abused by being cut up and chewed. The patch should be on the market by July.
